Counseling Agreement

Counselor Rights and Responsibilities

Your HRDC 7/Home Center Counselor will:

- Assist you in assessing your financial situation and areas for growth.
- Assist you in setting goals regarding your financial situation and homeownership.
- Answer your questions or find out who can.
- Provide credit and budgeting counseling.
- Maintain regular communication until assistance is no longer required.
- Provide appropriate referrals to other services that may assist you.
- Maintain confidentiality unless otherwise authorized by you.
- When appropriate, discuss and review at least three available mortgage loan products, unless you have chosen not to review alternative loan options.

Your counselor WILL NOT:

- Give legal advice or act as your legal representative.
- Advocate for a plan that is unrealistic or not in your best interests.
- Continue advocacy efforts if you cease to respond to communication efforts.
- Provide information to your lender that is known to be false.

The counselor has the right to terminate counseling services if you cease to respond to communication attempts, or if you choose to proceed with actions that are against the counselor's recommendations. The counselor has the right to discuss your case with the parties indicated on your release of authorization. The counselor may also discuss your case, without identifying information, with other housing, lending, or legal professionals to seek possible resources or solutions.

Client Rights and Responsibilities

- I will provide the counselor with accurate, complete, and truthful information to the extent possible.
- I will ask questions if there is anything I do not understand.
- I will consider the options presented and inform the counselor how I wish to proceed.
- I will inform the counselor immediately if my income or expenses change.
- I will maintain regular communication with the counselor until assistance is no longer required.
- I will inform the counselor if I no longer need assistance.
- I will be on time for my scheduled appointment(s) or call one (1) hour prior to my appointment to cancel and reschedule.

Home Inspection & Lead Based Paint Fact Sheet Acknowledgement

I have received a copy of the following three documents. I understand the importance of getting an independent home inspection. I have carefully read these documents and fully understand that FHA will not perform a home inspection nor guarantee the price or condition of the property.

- “For Your Protection: Get a Home Inspection” (HUD-92564-CN)
- “Ten Important Questions to Ask Your Home Inspector”
- “Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule Fact Sheet” (EPA-747-F-24-003)

Print - Applicant Name	Applicant Signature	Date
Print - Co-applicant Name	Co-applicant Signature	Date

Ten Important Questions to Ask Your Home Inspector

1. What does your inspection cover?

The inspector should ensure that their inspection and inspection report will meet all applicable requirements in your state if applicable and will comply with a well-recognized standard of practice and code of ethics. You should be able to request and see a copy of these items ahead of time and ask any questions you may have. If there are any areas you want to make sure are inspected, be sure to identify them upfront.

2. How long have you been practicing in the home inspection profession and how many inspections have you completed?

The inspector should be able to provide his or her history in the profession and perhaps even a few names as referrals. Newer inspectors can be very qualified, and many work with a partner or have access to more experienced inspectors to assist them in the inspection.

3. Are you specifically experienced in residential inspection?

Related experience in construction or engineering is helpful, but is no substitute for training and experience in the unique discipline of home inspection. If the inspection is for a commercial property, then this should be asked about as well.

4. Do you offer to do repairs or improvements based on the inspection?

Some inspector associations and state regulations allow the inspector to perform repair work on problems uncovered in the inspection. Other associations and regulations strictly forbid this as a conflict of interest.

5. How long will the inspection take?

The average on-site inspection time for a single inspector is two to three hours for a typical single family house; anything significantly less may not be enough time to perform a thorough inspection. Additional inspectors may be brought in for very large properties and buildings.

6. How much will it cost?

Costs vary dramatically, depending on the region, size and age of the house, scope of services and other factors. A typical range might be $300-$500 but consider the value of the home inspection in terms of the investment being made. Cost does not necessarily reflect quality. HUD Does not regulate home inspection fees.

7. What type of inspection report do you provide and how long will it take to receive the report?

Ask to see samples and determine whether or not you can understand the inspector's reporting style and if the time parameters fulfill your needs. Most inspectors provide their full report within 24 hours of the inspection.

8. Will I be able to attend the inspection?

This is a valuable educational opportunity, and an inspector's refusal to allow this should raise a red flag. Never pass up this opportunity to see your prospective home through the eyes of an expert.

9. Do you maintain membership in a professional home inspector association?

There are many state and national associations for home inspectors. Request to see their membership ID and perform whatever due diligence you deem appropriate.

10. Do you participate in continuing education programs to keep your expertise up to date?

One can never know it all, and the inspector's commitment to continuing education is a good measure of his or her professionalism and service to the consumer. This is especially important in cases where the home is much older or includes unique elements requiring additional or updated training.

For Your Protection: Get a Home Inspection

Why You Need a Home Inspection

Buying a home is probably the biggest investment you will ever make. The purpose of a home inspection is to inform and educate you about the property before you make a financial commitment. A home inspection will give you more detailed information about the overall condition of the house you want to buy.

Be an Informed Buyer

A home inspection will only occur if you arrange for one; FHA does not perform home inspections. For a fee, a qualified inspector will take an unbiased look at your potential new home to evaluate its physical condition; estimate the remaining useful life of the major systems, equipment, structure, and finishes; and identify any items that need to be repaired or replaced. If you request an inspection early in the process, you may be able to make your purchase contract contingent on its results.

What is Included in the Inspection?

To better understand what to expect in the home inspection, ask the prospective inspector for their Standards of Practice (SOP) or for a sample home inspection report.

How to Find an Inspector

To find a qualified home inspector ask for references from friends, real estate professionals, local licensing authorities and organizations that qualify and test home inspectors.

Appraisals are NOT Home Inspections!

An appraisal is required to estimate the home's value for your lender and does not replace a home inspection. FHA does not guarantee the value or condition of your new home. If you find problems with your home after closing, FHA cannot give or lend you money for repairs, and FHA cannot buy the home back from you.

Radon Gas Testing and Other Health or Safety Issues

The Environmental Protection Agency and the Surgeon General recommend that all houses be tested for radon. For more information, call the toll-free National Radon Information Line at 1-800-SOS-Radon \(1-800-767-7236\). Ask your inspector if additional health and safety tests are relevant for your home, such as mold; air or water quality; presence of asbestos, lead paint, or urea formaldehyde insulation; or pest infestations.

Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule Fact Sheet

For homebuyers, renters, property managers, landlords, real estate agents, and home sellers.

Summary

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) work together to make sure the public gets the information needed to prevent lead exposure in homes that may have lead-based paint hazards. As a result, buyers and renters of most housing built before 1978 must receive the “Protect Your Family from Lead in Your Home” pamphlet and known information on lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards before buying or renting the housing.

Health Effects of Lead Exposure

Lead can affect almost every organ and system in the human body. Children under six years old are particularly vulnerable because their bodies are still growing. In children, lead can cause delayed growth and development, lower IQ, learning problems, brain and nervous system damage, and hearing, speech, and behavior problems. If a pregnant person is exposed to lead, their developing baby can also be exposed. This can increase the risk of miscarriage; cause the baby to be born too early or too small; harm the baby’s brain, kidneys, and nervous system; or cause the child to have learning or behavioral problems.

Lead-Based Paint in Housing

Though lead-based paint for use in homes was banned in the U.S. in 1978, it is still present in millions of homes, especially those built before 1978. Lead-based paint is usually not a hazard if it is in good condition. However, deteriorating (peeling, chipping, chalking, cracking, or damaged) lead-based paint is a hazard and needs prompt attention.

Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule

To protect families from exposure to lead from paint, dust, and soil, Congress passed the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992. This is also known as Title X (Title “ten”). EPA issued a rule under section 1018 of this law known as the Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule. It directs EPA and HUD to require the disclosure of known information on lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards before the sale or lease of most housing built before 1978. It is designed to help people make more informed choices based on the information they receive.

Types of Housing Covered

The Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule applies to most pre-1978 private housing, public housing, federally owned housing, and housing receiving federal assistance.

Types of Housing Not Covered

The Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule does not apply to the following:

- Housing built after 1977 (this rule does not cover post-1977 housing since the Consumer Product Safety Commission banned residential lead-based paint in 1978);
- Zero-bedroom units, such as efficiencies, lofts, and dormitories;
- Leases for 100 days or less, such as vacation houses or short-term rentals;
- Housing specifically for the elderly or persons with disabilities (unless a child under the age of 6 lives or is expected to live in such housing);
- Housing in which painted surfaces have been tested and found to be lead-based paint free; and
- Foreclosure sales.

Requirements

Homebuyers and renters of most housing built before 1978 have the right to know whether lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards are present before signing a contract or lease. Before a contract for housing sale or lease is signed, federal law requires sellers, landlords, agents, and managers of rental properties to:

- Give buyers and renters a copy of the “Protect Your Family from Lead in Your Home” pamphlet. This has information on identifying and controlling lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards. It is available in multiple languages.
- Disclose any known information about the presence of lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards in the home or building. This may include the location of the lead-based paint and the condition of the painted surfaces.
- Provide all available records and reports on lead-based paint and lead-based paint hazards. For multi-unit buildings, this includes those for common areas and other units from building-wide evaluations.
- Provide a “Lead Warning Statement” to educate renters or buyers about known lead-based paint hazards. This can be an attachment to or as language inserted into the contract or lease. This should be in the same language as the rest of the contract. It should include confirmation that the seller or landlord has complied with all requirements under the Lead-Based Paint Disclosure Rule.
- Provide homebuyers 10 days to conduct a lead-based paint inspection or risk assessment.
- Keep a signed copy of the disclosures for three years after the sale is completed or the lease begins.
- If providing this required disclosure information electronically to renters or buyers, you must provide: a clear statement on the right to receive paper documents, procedures to withdraw consent and the consequences of doing so, and how to access and retain electronic records. If using electronic disclosure, you must get consent from the renter or buyer to show that they can access the forms electronically. Sellers, landlords, managers of rental properties and their agents should make sure that the use of electronic technology provides renters or buyers complete access to all disclosure materials. (Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act \(E-SIGN\), 15 U.S.C. § 7001)

What is Not Required

This rule does not require sellers or landlords to test or remove lead-based paint or lead-based paint hazards by sellers or landlords. This rule does not invalidate cancel leasing and sales contracts.

What Happens if a Seller or Lessor Fails to Comply with These Regulations

A seller, lessor, or agent who fails to give the proper information can be sued for triple the amount of damages. They may also be subject to civil and criminal penalties. Ensuring that disclosure information is given to home buyers and tenants helps all parties avoid misunderstandings before, during, and after sales and leasing agreements. If you did not receive the disclosure of information on lead-based paint or lead-based paint hazards form when you bought or leased pre-1978 housing, report this disclosure violation to: epa.gov/lead/violation or leadregulations@hud.gov.
